

COUNTY TAX MAY BE CUT THIS YEAR

Council in First Day's Session, Takes up Budget and Proposed Levies
For 1925

MEETS AGAIN WEDNESDAY

Law Provides for Two Day Session
Where Appropriations Are More
Than $1,500

The Rush county council met in annual session today to appropriate funds for next year and to make the tax levies.

No final action was to be taken today on account of the law which provides that if the appropriation of the council amounts to more than $15,000 the councilmen shall meet a second day.

The budget calls for appropriations totaling $117,747, which makes a second day's session necessary, although it is the custom of the council to agree practically on what the appropriation for each item will be the first day, and then come back the second day and confirm it.

It is manifestly impossible to make any tax rates until the council decides on the amount of money to be expended.

It is the duty of the council to fix the county tax rate, which raises money for the general fund; the gravel road repair levy, which supplies the money necessary for the repair of the county roads, not parts of the state highway system, under the supervision of the county highway superintendent, and the gravel road bond and interest tax.

The last named tax is based on a fixed charge that has to be met next year and varies according to townships. It is based on the amount falling due in principal and interest on road bonds next year.

It is reported that the council will likely reduce the county tax, which is eleven cents this year. It is said that there is a balance in the fund, and with no increased expenses anticipated for next year, it will be possible to lower this levy. If this action is taken, it will be in the face of a reduction of $1,535,895 in taxables for next year, as compared with this year.

The present gravel road repair levy is ten cents and the county commissioners, at their regular monthly session Monday, suggested that the council make the levy twelve cents for next year, but it is not known what the attitude of the council will be. The county's share of gasoline tax goes to the gravel road repair fund.

NO BIDS SUBMITTED ON LOAN WARRANTS

For Second Time City Council Fails
to Receive Offer—Wants to Borrow $4,800

INTEREST RATE IS TOO LOW

The second attempt of the city administration to obtain a loan by advertising for time warrants for $4,800, failed this morning, when no one offered a bid, and the general fund will have to be supplied from some source before in the morning, in order to pay the bills that will be allowed tonight at the council meeting.

The first attempt to borrow the money failed when a bank offered their bid below par. The rate of interest is six percent on the time warrants, which did not not furnish any inducement to banks, because they can get seven percent from other customers.

In the years past, the city has borrowed money from banks, but has always negotiated in notes signed by the mayor and clerk, but this has been held wrong by John J. Kiplinger, city attorney, and the time warrants were advertised.

The general fund will need money in the morning to pay off the city employees and meet other bills. Some plan will be devised tonight at the meeting of the council, or a loan can be made through a bank.

CITY TAX RATE WILL BE $1.03

Levy as Originally Fixed Will Stand
as no One Filed Remonstrance
Against It

TAXPAYERS HAD TEN DAYS

Represents an Increase of 23 Cents
Over This Year and Will Raise
$76,586

The tax rate for the city of Rushville for 1925 will be $1.03, according to the first preliminary plans made a few weeks ago when the budget was prepared.

A special meeting was held Monday night for the purpose of taking final action on the proposed budget, and making the appropriations for next year.

The budget for next year calls for $100 for operating expenses of the city, and a three cent levy for the library board. The rate will bring in a revenue amounting to $76,586 for expenses expected next year.

The salary of the mayor was increased from $600 to $1200 a year, the city legal department was increased from $300 to $1,020 a year, the city clerk was given a $300 allowance for a deputy, and several other minor increases were made.

No one remonstrated against the proposed tax rate during the ten day period from August 21 to September 1, and the session last night took final action on the levy. The levy will stand unless a remonstrance is filed with the state board of tax commissioners during the next four weeks. The time allowed for remonstrances to be filed.

A remonstrance with the state board, would compel a hearing on the tax rate by the board, the same law applying to townships, towns and other taxing units.

The Rush county exhibit in the horticulture building at the state fair, which opened Monday, attracted wide attention and was always the center of an interested group, especially when the electric train was running. The train represents six ears of hogs leaving Rush county every eighteen hours throughout the year.

Chester Meal of Orange township, who raised the largest ton litter of hogs in Indiana last year, a picture of which is a part of the Rush county exhibit, represented the Rush County Farm Bureau at the display the opening day and W. O. Fendner was the representative of the Rushville business men, who co-operated to make the display possible.

Charles M. Trowbridge of Mays, representative from Rush and Henry counties in the state legislature and a successful hog raiser was on hands at the exhibit today, but no Rushville business man could be found who would spend the day in the building.

It is desired that someone from the county and city be present all the time to answer questions regarding Rush county and to pass out literature about the county and the county seat, and it was hoped that a farmer and business man could be there each day, but so far it has been impossible to get any business men to devote

INSPECTORS FOR ELECTION NAMED

County Board of Commissioners
Transact Routine Business at
Monthly Session

TWO APPOINTMENTS MADE

W. N. Hinshaw of Carthage and Thomas Helman of Noble Township Selected Justices of Peace

The Rush county board of commissioners appointed the precinct inspectors for the general election in November and transacted other routine business at the regular monthly meeting Monday.

William N. Hinshaw was appointed justice of the peace for Carthage, Ripley township, on the petition of R. H. Hill and twenty-four other residents of the town, and Thomas Helman was appointed a justice of the peace for Noble township. The petition for his appointment was signed by Herbert Holden and twenty-one other residents of the township.

A statement from the Rush County Horse Thief Detective association, signed by William McMillin as president and Frank Sample as secretary, asking that the petition for appointment of 82 members as constables be withdrawn, was read to the board and made a matter of record.

The petition for the appointment of 82 members was filed May 5, 1923, and the board took it under advisement. No further action was taken on the petition, the county attorney having previously ruled that the law intended that constables should give bond. None recommended for voluntary service as constables cared to give bond.

The board employed A. L. Stewart to make plans and specifications for the Galhimer bridge in Walker township.

The Morrison Bever road in Noble township was accepted as completed by the board.

The county auditor was instructed to advertise for bids for a typewriter to be used in the county recorder's office. Bids will be opened September 20.

The inspectors selected for the election are as follows:

Ripley: No. 1, Thomas J. Passwater; No. 2, Douglas Cooper; No. 3, Jesse Henley.

Posey: No. 1, J. Hampton Reeves; No. 2, Albert W. Rigbee.

Walker: No. 1, George Meid; No. 2, Jacob G. Fox.

THREE CHILDREN DIE WHEN AUTO OVERTURNS

William H. Cohen of Indianapolis
Loses Control of His Machine on Road Near Lebanon

HE AND HIS WIFE ESCAPE

(By United Press)

Lebanon, Ind., Sept. 2—Three adopted children of William H. Cohen of Indianapolis were instantly killed when an automobile driven by Cohen turned over three miles west of here today.

The dead are William Michaels, 10; Clyde Michaels, 12, and Martha Michaels, 9.

Cohen's wife was seriously injured and he was badly hurt. Harry Conover, a sixth occupant of the car, escaped injury by jumping.

Cohen lost control of the car on a curve, the car skidding to the side of the road and turning over. All of the occupants, with the exception of Conover, were pinned beneath the machine.

Persons who saw the accident said Cohen was driving fast and that a machine coming from the opposite direction cut in on the wrong side of the road and forced him into the ditch.

The three children were dead when rescuers lifted the machine off of them. Cohen was unable to give a coherent report of the accident, other than the car approaching from the other direction caused him to lose control of his machine. The Cohens were returning from a week-end visit in Chicago when the accident occurred.

Used Kellogg's Bran 2 months— constipation gone after suffering 3 years

Three years of suffering with constipation. What happiness was his when Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, restored his health. But read his letter.

"Dear Sirs:—This is what I think of your krumbled bran. I would not be without it for anything in the world. For three years I used all kinds of medicines for constipation, and only got temporary relief. I was advised by a doctor to use Kellogg's Bran, and since I began using it I don't have to take pills or anything else. I have used it two months, and my constipation has left me. I feel better, now than I have for three years."

(The original of this letter is on file at the Kellogg Company, Battle Creek, Mich.)

Kellogg's Bran brings results because it is ALL bran. You can't fight constipation with halfway measure—with bran which is only part bran. It takes ALL bran to be 100 per cent effective.

Because Kellogg's Bran is ALL bran it sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. It acts naturally—just as nature acts. It stimulates the intestine and makes it function regularly. It is guaranteed to bring results, or your grocer will refund your money.

Kellogg's Bran has a delicious nut-like flavor. Quite different from ordinary, unpalatable bran. You will like it as a cereal, sprinkled on other cereals, cooked with hot cereals, or in the recipes given on every package.

Eat two table-spoonfuls of Kellogg's Bran every day—in chronic cases, with every meal. Made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.

TO OPEN RILEY HOSPITAL OCT. 7

Executives Making Plans For Distribution of Fair Chance for Childhood Subscription Bonds

BONDS NOT REDEEMABLE

To Date Approximately 25,000 Individual Indiana Residents Have Subscribed to Hospital

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 2—With the approach of the formal opening of the Riley Hospital for Children—October 7, the birthday anniversary of James Whitecomb Riley—the executives of the hospital association are making plans for the distribution of Riley Hospital Fair Chance for Childhood Subscription Bonds. These subscription bonds are not redeemable, but are to be kept as a permanent memento of individual or organization subscriptions to the hospital building fund.

In many counties where the opportunity to subscribe to the Riley Hospital building fund has not been extended to all the residents, these subscription bonds are to be offered between now and the date of the formal opening. To date approximately 25,000 individual Indiana residents have subscribed to the Riley Hospital for a total of nearly $1,000,000. This has made possible the construction of the first units of the hospital, with a capacity of 120 beds for child patients and an appropriation of $400,000 by the state of Indiana has constructed a modern electric power plant that will furnish heat, light and power for the Riley Hospital, the Robert W. Long Hospital and the Indiana University School of Medicine. The power plant is practically complete and ready to serve the great Indiana medical center of which the Riley Hospital is a part.

The completion of additional units now under contemplation, that are to be paid for by the proceeds of the Riley Hospital Fair Chance for Childhood subscription bonds, will increase the capacity of the institution to a total of 350 child patients and the erection of the Riley Hospital convalescent home will more than double the number of children who can be cared for by the hospital.

With the task partially completed and work being planned on the additional units that are to care for the scores of crippled and undernourished children of Indiana whose parents are unable to pay for needed treatment, the Riley executive committee is offering subscription bonds to residents of the state.

"Every man and woman in Indiana a subscriber to the Riley Hospital," is the slogan of the state wide efforts that is being made by the Riley executives.

Voluntary subscribers to the fund that will complete the hospital will receive their Fair Chance for Childhood Subscription Bonds direct from the Riley Memorial Association, 307 National City Bank Building, Indianapolis and from county treasurers and chairmen who are being appointed throughout the state. Subscriptions are accepted payable in four annual installments.

Made the Best Showing of Any Manufacturer of Fertilizer in the State Chemist Report

That is the record of Norris' High Quality Brands of Fertilizer. I am making Fertilizer at the rate of 100 tons per day.

Yields and results always tell the tale. Remember that this Fertilizer is made right here in Rushville for your own use. You can see how it is made and most of all see the materials from which it is made. I could use cheaper materials and sell Fertilizer at a very cheap price. But you would not have the yields and the mechanical condition would not be up to the high standard that this goods has set.

Of course, they will tell you a long story about this goods or that goods but the law of average will bear me out in this statement and that is "You get just what you pay for. Nothing more."

You are invited to come down to the factory and see just what you are getting. Seeing is believing. You have to listen to a fine set speech on any other goods. Come and see with your own eyes my fertilizers and how they are made.

I have sixty dealers all selling Fertilizer in about thirty counties. All are increasing their business because of good results, fine mechanical condition and good bags. You owe it to yourself to come down and see the Fertilizer that is made in Rushville—for Rush County folks.

MANY CITIES BATTLE FOR CONVENTION CITY

Selection Will be Made at Annual Convention of American Legion at St. Paul, Sept. 15-19

OMAHA, NEB., FIGHT FOR IT

(By United Press)
Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 2.—With five contenders already in the field and the possibility that others will enter the race, the selection of a convention city for the 1925 convention of the American Legion promises to develop into a lively battle, it was indicated today at Legion national headquarters.

The selection will be made at the annual convention at St. Paul, Minn., from Sept. 15 to 19.

Omaha, Neb., has already raised $50,000 to entertain the convention and Legionnaires from that city will carry a certified check for that amount as an argument before the St. Paul gathering.

San Francisco, which entertained the Legion in 1923, extends a second invitation and offers its $2,000,000. Expedition auditorium for the free use of the conclave.

Los Angeles and Louisville will have the hearty support of the delegates from their respective state departments. Newark, N. J., is another contender.

Philadelphia is seeking the convention for 1926 as a feature of the celebration of the sesqui-centennial of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

The Herrin Riots

Violence, unless it is properly suppressed and the perpetrators properly punished, leads to more violence.

More violence leads to anarchy and anarchy breeds revolutions. In turn, revolutions destroy governments and paralyze industry.

There is no occasion for revolution in this country and there is no excuse for violence.

Apparently there are elements in the city of Herrin, Ill., where rioting recently took place, causing the loss of several lives that should be suppressed by law without fear or favor.

The fact that this is not the first outbreak in that community makes it plain that the disturbing element should be rooted out and made to suffer the consequences of the law, which is supposed to protect the public from such outrages.

That the disturbance happened to be caused this time by Klan and anti-Klan adherents does not figure materially in consideration of the situation as it exists there.

Before, when many lives were sacrificed on the altar of riot, it was a quarrel between union and non-union forces.

The most recent rioting is simply a manifestation of the unhealthy condition that exists there.

Unless the sore on the body politic is thoroughly healed, it will break out again at the first excuse, and it may not be over the question of the union or the Ku Klux Klan.

No set of men, regardless of what organization they represent, is greater than our country and its laws. Those laws were made to be obeyed by all people and no one is immune from their application.

No public official can expect to remain in office long without the confidence of the people, and that confidence endures only through a fair and impartial enforcement of the law.

No individual or organization can expect to retain the confidence and sympathy of the people unless there is a wholesome respect for all of the laws under which all of the people are required to live.

If the organizations involved are powerless to prevent acts of lawlessness, it is clearly the duty of the constituted authorities to put an end to it without further ado.

It requires years of care and training to produce an adult life and much toil and expense to create a valuable property. Neither should be destroyed at the whim of irresponsible elements in society.

Let the law be enforced against both parties to the dispute. True justice knows neither friend nor foe.

Mid-Western Crops

One fourth of the wealth of the whole United States is situated in five mid-western states—Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan and Wisconsin.

Middle-west crops are above the average. Prices are still high. The world grain crop is reported to be short.

Here is a combination of circumstances that can mean nothing but prosperity.

The wealth of the middle-west is largely confined to products of the soil. The weather started the growing season poorly, but made amends later and the soil has produced lavishly.

The American farmer should be looking into the future with optimism.

And he should be joined by all other business men, because just as the depression in agriculture has made itself felt in every line, so will the improvement be reflected in every field of business enterprise.

Here in Rush county, we have every reason to be thankful. The growing season has been much more favorable than anyone anticipated. The warm weather of the past several days has hurried the corn crop along and increased the prospects daily for an abundant yield.

Wheat sold good, corn promises to bring a larger return than was expected and the hog market is holding up around ten dollars. What more could we ask?

The Hodge-Podge

Charlie Dawes and Owen Young might try their peace plans on Herrin, Illinois.

There is little hope for a man who won't admit his own mistakes.

Now that Europe is in a fair way of getting on its feet again, let's hope she doesn't sit down.

When we hear a fellow orating on the glories of his past, we are inclined to wonder why he is silent regarding his present.

It requires neither talent nor rehearsal for a man to make a fool of himself.

We all believe in pulling together when we want the other fellow to help us.

Today, which is the tomorrow we all worried about yesterday, didn't turn out so bad after all.

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER

BY HARRY B. HUNT

NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—Evidence is accumulating that the Republican campaign will be Charles G. Dawes, G. O. P. vice presidential nominee.

Dawes is destined to be painted as a political Jekyll-Hyde, a dual personality, alternately a hard-as-nails capitalist and disciplinarian and a pensive, dreaming sentimentalist.

Democrats already have been able to capitalize the "hard-boiled" Dawes, he of "Hell-and-Maria" fame and of strong explosives. Also, they claim to have found a definite reaction against Dawes' ever-present pipe, citing the instance at Portland, Maine, where lithographs of Dawes, pipe in mouth, were withdrawn following protests by local W. C. T. U. leaders.

A result of this line of attack on their vice presidential candidate, Republican publicity is engaged in presenting the other Dawes, the one which is less spectacular and vociferous, but which they claim is the Dawes that would be in the ascendant in high office.

This Dawes is a cultured, aesthetic gentleman, a patron of the arts, himself a musician and composer, a humanitarian who establishes refuge homes where hungry, jobless men can find shelter and warmth.

To back up this picture of Dawes, his "Melody in A Major," perhaps his most tuneful composition, has been produced on phonograph records and is slated for extensive distribution.

G. O. P. headquarters, citing that a Chicago violinist, touring Europe, has included the Dawes composition in his repertoire and is making it the bit of his concert.

So impressed was President Masaryk of Czechoslovakia with the Dawes composition that the violinist felt justified in sending a cablegram telling about it.

"Gen. Dawes' composition is the logical successor to 'Humoresque,'" Masaryk is said to have said. "America has produced in him a man whose vision is as large as your country."

Naturally, a verdict like that just couldn't be suppressed by the Republican party publicists.

While Republicans are emphasizing more and more the Dawes of culture, the musician and composer and philanthropist, the Democrats continue hammering away on Dawes as a "hard-boiled egg" who points his periods with profanity, chews up pipe stems, slams the desk when he talks and raises "Hell-and-Maria" generally.

It is from these two widely divergent pictures that the public at large must make up its estimate of Coolidge's running mate. Republicans are hopeful, however, that even the Democratic likeness will be helpful in lining up the votes of red-blooded, vigorous voters, while the dilettante Dawes, the musician and dreamer are counted on to win for him the ballots of the less strenuously emphatic.

Possibly never before did the second-place men on the presidential ticket get, by comparison, as great a part of the campaign publicity as they are getting this year.

Just as Dawes is made the target of the Coolidge opposition, so Bryan gets more backhats from the Republicans than Davis and Wheeler draws the fire of both old parties from his independent chief La Follette.

Great Screen Play

Fred Niblo has outdone all of his previous efforts in "Strangers of the Night," the screen version of Walter Hackett's stage success. "Captain Applejack" which opened at the Princess Theatre last night. The man who directed "The Three Musketeers," "The Famous Mrs. Fair" and "Blood and Sand," has again turned out a great screen play. Working on the brilliant story of the timid British who becomes a pirate and roams the Spanish Main, he has embellished it with beautiful photography, magnificent settings and a superb cast. The picture is presented by Louis B. Mayer, through Metro.

Spectators were thrilled by intense drama and swept into gales of laughter, as Matt Moore, in the role of "Captain Applejack," fought through the mystery of the treasure hidden in his ancestral castle in Cornwall, and swayed and swore aboard his pirate craft. Enid Bennett's blonde loveliness contrasted with Barbara La Marr's dark seductiveness as these two brilliant actresses portrayed the intrigue and romantic adventure of the demure English miss and the beautiful Russian spy Robert McKin was at his best as the leader of the pirate mutiny, and others in the east who stood out distinctively were Emily Fitzroy, Otto Hoffman, Thomas Ricketts and Mathilde Brun-dage.

Bess Beredeth was responsible for writing the excellent scenario and the memorable photography is credited to Alvin Wyckoff, who left the De Milles to do this picture. Robert Ellis was the artist who designed the beautiful sets.

"Flapper Wives," Castle

Little Stanley Goethals, who has the appealing role of Jimmy, the blind boy in "Flapper Wives," the Selznick production of Jane Murtin's play at the Castle Theatre, was practically forced to become an actor.

Stanley's parents owned a restaurant in Calver City, where two or three of the biggest studios in the world are located. Every day the stars and directors came over for lunch and it was not long before Stanley knew them well enough to call them by their first names. One of his best friends was Charles Ray, and it Ray who first noticed the child as a screen possibility. He lost no time in urging Mrs. Goethals to let Stanley work in pictures, but she refused because she thought him far too young. He was only three at the time. Charles Ray, however, told a few of his friends and it was not long before Mrs. Goethals was besieged with offers for Stanley. Finally her objections were overcome and she took him to the studio where his first role was a part with Priscilla Dean in "Outside the Law."

Buck Jones At Mystic

Buck Jones and Ben Hendricks, cast as the "heavy," in "Against All Odds," the newest and best Buck Jones show which comes to the Mystic theatre today. Both are of about equal athletic build, both pride themselves on their mastery of the fistic art, and they're cronies.

But they didn't let friendship interfere with realism in going to it with bare fists when the big fight scene at the Fox West Coast Studios, was "shot" and there was no fake about the "soakfest" they put up. Director Mortimer called "cut," meaning he had enough fight stuff for the picture. The camera men stopped grinding. But neither heeded the imaginary go, treating the rest of the company to as pretty a boxing exhibition as they could have seen in the professional squared ring.

No decision was given, when the scrap stopped, and both continued cronies, but each has partisan fight fans who claim the title for their particular man.

The Significance of "Cracking"

THE Cracking process was responsible for 1,850,000,000 gallons, or about 21% of all the gasoline produced in 1923.

A large portion of this 21% was produced by the Burton Process, developed in the laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

While the production of crude oil during the past ten years has trebled, the demand for gasoline has far outstripped the increased production. "The real factor in holding down the price of gasoline," says the Oil and Gas Journal, "has been the refiners who produced 6 times as much gasoline, from 3 times as much crude."

"In accomplishing this result, the biggest single factor has been the use of cracking plants—and in the future, cracking will be an increasingly important factor as the most direct and immediate means of holding down the price of gasoline."

Since so much of the gasoline produced by cracking in the United States, is cracked by the Burton Process, it is obvious that the service rendered by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is great.

Until 1913, when the first patent for the Burton Process was granted, "cracking" was a lost art; an idea that had never been worked out from a chemical standpoint—that had never been developed from an apparatus standpoint—that had never been utilized from an industrial standpoint.

Of the cracked gasoline in the United States produced by other processes than the Burton, it is worth noting that none of these cracking processes had developed to the point of producing cracked gasoline in appreciable quantities before 1920, or even 1922.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has always led the oil industry in progressive development—in economy of operation—in conservation of oil—and in continually lowered cost of refining.

The result of these refining and constructive services is the essentially low price which motorists pay for gasoline.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is a real conservationist. It originated those processes which get more gasoline from less oil and hence keep consumers supplied at lower cost.

Every operation of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is based upon a deep regard for public welfare—upon the desire to render maximum service to the community. The Burton Cracking Process is but one of many inventions, originating with this Company, to conserve our natural resources—to render a greater service to the thirty million people of the ten Middle Western States.

Suzanne Won't Play Helen Wills

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)
New York, Sept. 2—Before the brilliant Miss Helen Wills, the 18-year-old American tennis champion, sailed to play at Wimbledon and Paris, the writer expressed the opinion that she had it in her game to beat Miss Suzanne Lenglen, the champion of the world's championship.

After seeing the game of the young California girl in crashing through the recent American championships to another victory, after seeing her win the Olympic championship at Paris and after watching Miss Lenglen in action before she ran out of the Wimbledon tournament, this opinion has become a conviction.

Miss Wills, right now can beat Miss Lenglen, but it is doubtful if she ever will beat the French girl. Suzanne will not play her. Miss Lenglen has a little or what is left of it, that means everything to her and you bet that she is not going to take a chance on it. She was forced to come to the United States once because she couldn't get out of it. She was asked to help raise funds for devastated France and she had to accept.

France is not devastated now, and there is no other argument that could be brought up to force the temperamental French girl to take any kind of a chance.

The young American champion would not have beaten Miss Lenglen at Wimbledon, but she most certainly would have taken her in the Paris Olympic matches. Lenglen isn't the player she was in 1920 and 1921. She was great then, and she had almost a clear field. There was no player of the type and ability of Helen Wills to dispute her right to the world's title. Miss Lenglen cannot hope to improve her game now, and Miss Wills is getting better every time she goes out.

Exercising the good American right of guessing, we would hazard the opinion that Miss Mary K. Browne, on the game she played against Miss Wills in the semi-final round of the recent women's championship, could have beaten Miss Lenglen. Many critics said also that Helen Wills was the only player in the world that could have beaten Mrs. Browne the way she played that afternoon.

The young California girl won principally because she possessed a most radiant fighting heart. She was being outpaced and outfoxed. She had been forced to the defense, and victory depended entirely upon a rally that would give her command of the play again. She stuck bravely to her game with the most demonstration of courage.

RIDES EPINARD

The honor of piloting Epinard in the French horse's match races in this country went to Jockey Everett Haynes, one of the stars of the European turf. Haynes is an American who has been doing most of his riding abroad.

age. She fought desperately and when the break came she leaped at her opponent like a man in the prize ring.

That stout heart, that indomitable fighting spirit and a great game with it were what caused the opinion to be expressed that Miss Wills can beat Miss Lenglen now, or any other time. The American girl would have to fight hard at Wimbledon, but she should be given a chance to play in Paris where the weather and the conditions of play would not be a handicap to either one of them.

Ever since Miss Wills came east with pig-tails hanging down her back, the experts predicted a future for her and, naturally, a future in women's tennis meant a development to the Lenglen class. The California girl has developed to that class now. Some think she has passed it.

SUGGESTIONS FOR SAFETY ARE MADE

Public Service Commission Making Plans for Safety Conference to be Held October 14-15

SUGGESTS MANY RIGID LAWS

One Man Replies to Request That All Motorists Stop at Every Railroad Crossing

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 2—A law requiring all motorists to stop before driving over railroad grade crossings was suggested in a letter to Frank Singleton, member of the public service commission from Henry Shearer, general manager of the Michigan Central railroad, as a means of reducing crossing accidents.

Singleton is conducting the preparation being made by the commission for a safety conference called by Governor Branch for October 14 and 15. The letter is one of sixty three replies which Singleton has received from utilities, clubs, and public spirited organizations to his invitation for them to send representatives to the conference and to offer suggestions as to the best means of combating the growing problem presented by crossing accidents.

A law should be enacted by the state legislature, the letter from Shearer said, to "require all automobiles to stop before crossing railroad tracks at grade. If this is deemed too drastic then regulation should be made providing that all passenger carrying trucks and all automobiles, trucks or otherwise operating commercially, be required to stop before going over any railroad crossing. The latter suggestion has been under discussion for years, and has not been given consideration deserved."

Shearer also suggested that the grade separation laws be amended to place all matters of grade separation in the hands of the public service commission, both in the country and in villages and cities, and also make a fair arrangement of division of cost. The railroad, he said, should not assume more than fifty percent of the cost of grade separation.

Singleton today sent letters to ten leading state church organizations asking them to observe September 14 as "Safety Sunday" and to have their ministers preach on safety from their pulpits on that day. He also sent letters inviting the public service commissions from Illinois, Michigan, Kentucky, and Ohio to send representatives to the safety conference and to furnish any information as to experience they might have had in public safety work.

100,000th Car in 1924 for Hudson-Essex

Here is the 100,000th Hudson-Essex car for 1924—an Essex Coach—just leaving the final assembly department

First of the big motor companies to better the volume of 1923 business, the Hudson Motor Car Company has produced and sold its 100,000th car for 1924. This compares with 88,188 Hudson and Essex cars for all of 1923. The 100,000th car was an Essex Coach.

With Hudson and Essex Coaches comprising seventy-five per cent of the entire business, Hudson has enjoyed a banner year. It is now the first six cylinder manufacturer in production for the year, and one of the very few manufacturers whose 1924 business has been consistently better than the 1923 volume.

From present indications the sale of Hudson Super-Sixes this year will be about thirty-five per cent better than last year, and the sales of the Essex Six will be twice that of the 1923 popular four cylinder model.

Hudson-Essex sales have been large this year without the Company having adopted any sensational selling effort and without any doling up or mechanical complication of the cars. The volume has been obtained primarily on the grounds of closed car comforts at open car costs. Since July 1st balloon tires have been standard equipment.

BETTER BUSINESS IS FORECASTED

C. L. Henry Believes Conditions Will Improve Basing His Report on Agricultural Outlook

MAKES INSPECTION TOUR

Surprised at Conditions of Indiana Crops Particularly Corn in Many Sections of State

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 2.—On the whole business conditions in Indiana ought to be as good and sound the rest of the present year as in any other state in the Union. There is every reason to believe conditions will improve considerably.

This was the belief expressed today by Charles L. Henry, president of the Indiana Public utility association and head of the Indianapolis and Cincinnati traction company. He based his opinion on the agricultural outlook and general business conditions throughout the state.

Henry, at the head of an official party, recently returned from an inspection trip over the lines of the Indianapolis and Cincinnati system.

"We were greatly surprised at the condition of Indiana crops, particularly corn, in many sections, in spite of the lateness of planting and the prevailing weather," Henry said.

"It was surprising, too, the way the farmers have cared for their fields and crops in face of the tremendous weather handicap this year.

"On the whole, business should be good in Indiana during the fall, as I believe that crops will turn out favorably." Prices of farm products are better than they have been for some time, which will have its effect in stimulating sound conditions.

Henry declared that the utility industry in general is looking forward to improved business conditions. "In fact the industry is doing more than merely looking forward to improved business conditions. The utilities of Indiana are now engaged in expending about $100,000,000 of new capital on facilities with which to handle increased service demands."

Gum Chewing Aids the Teeth

You have the authority of doctors and dentists for this statement. Your own experience will prove it, if you will use WRIGLEY'S after every meal.

The following quotations from a recent work on teeth and health are worth remembering:

"Dentists have found that the exercise of gum chewing brings about a better nutrition of the teeth"

"The cleansing action of the gum between the teeth helps to keep them free from the particles which lodge in the crevices and cause decay."

The busy man—or woman either—rarely has time to clean the teeth after eating. Yet they should be cleaned, and will do it. Also it will aid digestion and furnish welcome refreshment to mouth and throat.

"Bring Up the Bulls!"

—That's the Circus-Man's War-Cry in Traffic Troubles

EMERGENCY. It's a part of the show driver's very life. Stalking at his shoulder through every hour.

Maybe it comes at his first hitch at the cars in early dawn, maybe right at the lot before parade—just a quick bunt out of sand or rut in all the light of morning sunshine.

But again it's a belated load-up at the heavy stake wagon sinks deep and sullen against the futile eight horse pull.

Hub-down in an unseen hole, the last heavy stake wagon sinks deep and sullen against the futile eight horse pull.

Hark!

"B-r-i-n-g u-p t-h-e b-u-l-l-s!"

This cry in the dark hurtles through the murk to the unseen load ahead.

Caught up and tossed from driver to driver in the straggling line the strange S. O. S. is relayed on and on to waiting ears.

Suddenly, silently, almost like loosened fragments of darkness itself, there loom beside the welcoming wagon huge hulks of embodied power.

The "bulls" have come—the elephant reserves!

At commands scarcely more than whispered, mighty trunks wind about the buried axle.

Massive heads lean forward. The whip cracks ahead. A creak—a strain and the gripping pit slips backward into forgotten history.

It's all in the night's work. The circus is ready—self-contained—adequate with its own resources to meet and conquer its own emergencies.

Silver Flash Gasoline

is the motor fuel of reserve strength—never failing. Within its own substance, it has the crowding, irresistible self-contained force of true explosiveness.

It is ready with confident power whenever load or grade or barrier drag at the wheels and the bull cry telegraphs its way along the driving line for reserve measures from motor and throttle. It does not waver. Its clean body, free from kerosenish taint and unbroken by gaps in its firing chain meets its emergency and passes it into unnoticed history.

Its use is the consummation of pleasantest driving, efficient economy and final motor conservation.

COUNTY TAX MAY BE CUT THIS YEAR

Council in First Day's Session, Takes
up Budget and Proposed Levies
For 1925

MEETS AGAIN WEDNESDAY

Law Provides for Two Day Session
Where Appropriations Are More
Than $1,500

The Rush county council met in annual session today to appropriate funds for next year and to make the tax levies.

No final action was to be taken today on account of the law which provides that if the appropriation of the council amounts to more than $15,000 the councilmen shall meet a second day.

The budget calls for appropriations totaling $117,747, which makes a second day's session necessary, although it is the custom of the council to agree practically on what the appropriation for each item will be the first day, and then come back the second day and confirm it.

It is manifestly impossible to make any tax rates until the council decides on the amount of money to be expended.

It is the duty of the council to fix the county tax rate, which raises money for the general fund; the gravel road repair levy, which supplies the money necessary for the repair of the county roads, not parts of the state highway system, under the supervision of the county highway superintendent, and the gravel road bond and interest tax.

The last named tax is based on a fixed charge that has to be met next year and varies according to townships. It is based on the amount falling due in principal and interest on road bonds next year.

It is reported that the council will likely reduce the county tax, which is eleven cents this year. It is said that there is a balance in the fund, and with no increased expenses anticipated for next year, it will be possible to lower this levy. If this action is taken, it will be in the face of a reduction of $1,535,895 in taxables for next year, as compared with this year.

The present gravel road repair levy is ten cents and the county commissioners, at their regular monthly session Monday, suggested that the council make the levy twelve cents for next year, but it is not known what the attitude of the council will be. The county's share of gasoline tax goes to the gravel road repair fund.

NO BIDS SUBMITTED ON LOAN WARRANTS

For Second Time City Council Fails
to Receive Offer—Wants to Borrow $4,800

INTEREST RATE IS TOO LOW

The second attempt of the city administration to obtain a loan by advertising for time warrants for $4,800, failed this morning, when no one offered a bid, and the general fund will have to be supplied from some source before in the morning, in order to pay the bills that will be allowed tonight at the council meeting.

The first attempt to borrow the money failed when a bank offered their bid below par. The rate of interest is six percent on the time warrants, which did not not furnish any inducement to banks, because they can get seven percent from other customers.

In the years past, the city has borrowed money from banks, but has always negotiated in notes signed by the mayor and clerk, but this has been held wrong by John J. Kiplinger, city attorney, and the time warrants were advertised.

The general fund will need money in the morning to pay off the city employees and meet other bills. Some plan will be devised tonight at the meeting of the council, or a loan can be made through a bank.

M'COY TRIAL SET

"Kid" Pleads Not Guilty to Murder, Assault, Robbery Charges

Los Angeles, Calif., Sept. 2.—"Kid" McCoy will go on trial October 29, charges with the slaying of Mrs. Theresa Mors, his paramour.

The date was set today by Superior Court Judge Crail when the "Kid" pleaded "not guilty" to the murder charged with the slaying of Mrs. Mors, with intent to kill, and four of robbery.

In a voice that was almost a shout McCoy gave these words "not guilty" when the murder charge was read. To each of the other charges McCoy also entered his denial.

Funeral services were held here this afternoon at the home of the deceased parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Hodges in East Eighth street. Flowers and his wife formerly lived here, and he had quite a police record during his stay here. He and his wife were separated recently, and they meet Sunday at Muncie, which resulted in the shooting, following a quarrel. He is held in jail on a first degree murder charge, pending the investigation of the grand jury.

CLAY IN THE HANDS OF THE CARTOONIST

CITY TAX RATE WILL BE $1.03

Levy as Originally Fixed Will Stand
as no One Filed Remonstrance
Against It

TAXPAYERS HAD TEN DAYS

Represents an Increase of 23 Cents
Over This Year and Will Raise
$76,586

The tax rate for the city of Rushville for 1925 will be $1.03, according to the preliminary plans made a few weeks ago when the budget was prepared.

A special meeting was held Monday night for the purpose of taking final action on the proposed budget, and making the appropriations for next year.

The budget for next year calls for $1.00 for operating expenses of the city, and a three cent levy for the library board. The rate will bring in a revenue amounting to $76,586 for expenses expected next year.

The salary of the mayor was increased from $600 to $1,200 a year, the city legal department was increased from $300 to $1,020 a year, the city clerk was given a $300 allowance for a deputy, and several other minor increases were made.

No one remonstrated against the proposed tax rate during the ten day period from August 21 to September 1, and the session last night took final action on the levy. The levy will stand unless a remonstrance is filed with the state board of tax commissioners during the next four weeks. The time allowed for remonstrances to be filed.

A remonstrance with the state board, would compel a hearing on the tax rate by the board, the same law applying to townships, towns and other taxing units.

Charles M. Trowbridge of Mays Only One Present Today—Interest Expected to Increase

The Rush county exhibit in the horticulture building at the state fair, which opened Monday, attracted wide attention and was always the center of an interested group, especially when the electric train was running. The train represents six cars of hogs leaving Rush county every eighteen hours throughout the year.

Chester Meal of Orange township, who raised the largest lot of hogs in Indiana last year, a picture of which is a part of the Rush county exhibit, represented the Rush County Farm Bureau at the display the opening day and W. O. Fendler was the representative of the Rushville business men, who co-operated to make the display possible.

Charles M. Trowbridge of Mays, representative from Rush and Henry counties in the state legislature and a successful hog raiser was on hand at the exhibit today, but no Rushville business man could be found who would spend the day in the building.

It is desired that someone from the county and city be present all the time to answer questions regarding Rush county and to pass out literature about the county and the county seat, and it was hoped that a farmer and business man could be there each day, but so far it has been impossible to get any business men to devote

County Board of Commissioners
Transact Routine Business at
Monthly Session

TWO APPOINTMENTS MADE

W. N. Minshaw of Carthage and Thomas Helman of Noble Town-
ship Selected Justices of Peace

The Rush county board of commissioners appointed the precinct inspectors for the general election in November and transacted other routine business at the regular monthly meeting Monday.

William N. Minshaw was appointed justice of the peace for Carthage, Ripley township, on the petition of R. H. Hill and twenty-four other residents of the town, and Thomas Helman was appointed a justice of the peace for Noble township. The petition for his appointment was signed by Herbert Holden and twenty-one other residents of the township.

A statement from the Rush County Horse Thief Detective association, signed by William McMillin as president and Frank Sample as secretary, asking that the petition for appointment of 82 members as constables be withdrawn, was read to the board and made a matter of record.

The petition for the appointment of 82 members was filed May 5, 1923, and the board took it under advisement. No further action was taken on the petition, the county attorney having previously ruled that the law intended that constables should give bond. None recommended for voluntary service as constables cared to give bond.

The board employed A. L. Stewart to make plans and specifications for the Gahimer bridge in Walker township.

The Morrison Bever road in Noble township was accepted as completed by the board.

The county auditor was instructed to advertise for bids for a typewriter to be used in the county recorder's office. Bids will be opened September 20.

The inspectors selected for the election are as follows:

Riley: No. 1, Thomas J. Passwater; No. 2, Douglas Cooper; No. 3, Jesse Henley.
Posey: No. 1, J. Hampton Reeves; No. 2, Albert W. Riggshee.
Walker: No. 1, George Meid; No. 2, Jacob G. Fox.
Orange: No. 1, Loyd A. Wagoner; No. 2, George G. Fox.

THREE CHILDREN DIE WHEN AUTO OVERTURNS

William H. Cohen of Indianapolis
Loses Control of His Machine on
Road Near Lebanon

HE AND HIS WIFE ESCAPE

(By United Press)
Lebanon, Ind., Sept. 2.—Three adopted children of William H. Cohen of Indianapolis were instantly killed when an automobile driven by Cohen turned over three miles west of here today.

The dead are William Michaels, 10; Clyde Michaels, 12, and Martha Michaels, 9.

Cohen's wife was seriously injured and he was badly hurt. Harry Conover, a sixth occupant of the car, escaped injury by jumping.

Cohen lost control of the car on a curve, the car skidding to the side of the road and turning over. All of the occupants, with the exception of Conover, were pinned beneath the machine.

Persons who saw the accident said Cohen was driving fast and that a machine coming from the opposite direction cut in on the wrong side of the road and forced him into the ditch.

The three children were dead when rescuers lifted the machine off of them. Cohen was unable to give a coherent report of the accident, other than the car approaching from the other direction caused him to lose control of his machine. The Cohens were returning from a week-end visit in Chicago when the accident occurred.

CIVIL WAR BREAKS OUT IN CHINA TODAY

Rival Armies, Which Have Been Fac-

Begin an Advance

AMERICANS IN NO DANGER

Shanghai, Sept. 2.—Civil war in China broke out this afternoon.

Rival armies, which have been facing one another forty miles from Shanghai, for nearly a week, began an advance and scattered fighting was reported from all along the line.

Washington, Sept. 2.—Representatives at Peking of United States, Great Britain, Japan and France, today moved to assure protection of foreign lives and property in the civil war zone around Shanghai, according to advices received by the state department from American charge-d'affaires Bell.

The Peking government has been asked to issue a declaration of neutrality in respect to the whole Yangtze river and its mouth. Meanwhile American consul general Cunningham at Shanghai reports that American citizens in the war zone are in no immediate danger.

Used Kellogg's Bran 2 months— constipation gone after suffering 3 years

Three years of suffering with constipation. What happened was his when Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, restored his health. But read his letter.

"Dear Sirs:—
This is what I think of your krumbled bran. I would not be without it for anything in the world for three years. I used all kinds of medicines for constipation, and only got temporary relief. I was advised by a doctor to use Kellogg's Bran, and since I began using it I don't have to take pills or anything else. I have used it two months, and my constipation has left me. I feel better now than I have for three years."
(The original of this letter is on file at the Kellogg Company, Battle Creek, Mich.)

Kellogg's Bran brings results because it is ALL bran. You can't fight constipation with halfway meaasures—with bran which is only part bran. It takes ALL bran to be 100 per cent effective.

Because Kellogg's Bran is ALL bran it sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. It acts naturally—just as nature acts. It stimulates the intestine and makes it function regularly. It is guaranteed to bring results, or your grocer will refund your money.

Kellogg's Bran has a delicious nut-like flavor. Quite different from ordinary, unpalatable bran. You will like it as a cereal, sprinkled on other cereals, cooked with hot cereals, or in the recipes given on every package.

Eat two tablespoonfuls of Kellogg's Bran every day—in chronic cases, with every meal. Made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.

TO OPEN RILEY HOSPITAL OCT. 7

Executives Making Plans For Distribution of Fair Chance for Childhood Subscription Bonds

BONDS NOT REDEEMABLE

To Date Approximately 25,000 Individual Indiana Residents Have Subscribed to Hospital

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 2—With the approach of the formal opening of the Riley Hospital for Children—October 7, the birthday anniversary of James Whitcomb Riley—the executives of the hospital association are making plans for the distribution of Riley Hospital Fair Chance for Childhood Subscription Bonds. These subscription bonds are not redeemable, but are to be kept as a permanent monument to individual or organization subscriptions to the hospital building fund.

In many counties where the opportunity to subscribe to the Riley Hospital building fund has not been extended to all the residents, these subscription bonds are to be offered between now and the date of the formal opening. To date approximately 25,000 individual Indiana residents have subscribed to the Riley Hospital for a total of nearly $1,000,000. This has made possible the construction of the first units of the hospital, with a capacity of 120 beds for child patients and an appropriation of $400,000 by the state of Indiana has constructed a modern electric power plant that will furnish heat, light and power for the Riley Hospital, the Robert W. Long Hospital and the Indiana University School of Medicine. The power plant is practically complete and ready to serve the great Indiana medical center of which the Riley Hospital is a part.

The completion of additional units now under contemplation, that are to be paid for by the proceeds of the Riley Hospital Fair Chance for Childhood subscription bonds, will increase the capacity of the institution to a total of 350 child patients and the erection of the Riley Hospital convalescent home will more than double the number of children who can be cared for by the hospital.

With the task partially completed and work being planned on the additional units that are to care for the scores of crippled and undernourished children of Indiana whose parents are unable to pay for needed treatment, the Riley executive committee is offering subscription bonds to residents of the state.

"Every man and woman in Indiana a subscriber to the Riley Hospital," is the slogan of the state wide efforts that is being made by the Riley executives.

Voluntary subscribers to the fund that will complete the hospital will receive their Fair Chance for Childhood Subscription Bonds direct from the Riley Memorial Association, 307 National City Bank Building, Indianapolis and from county treasurers and chairmen who are being appointed throughout the state. Subscriptions are accepted payable in four annual installments.

Made the Best Showing of Any Manufacturer of Fertilizer in the State Chemist Report

That is the record of Norris' High Quality Brands of Fertilizer. I am making Fertilizer at the rate of 100 tons per day.

Yields and results always tell the tale. Remember that this Fertilizer is made right here in Rushville for your own use. You can see how it is made and most of all see the materials from which it is made. I could use cheaper materials and sell Fertilizer at a very cheap price. But you would not have the yields and the mechanical condition would not be up to the high standard that this goods has set.

Of course, they will tell you a long story about this goods or that goods but the law of average will bear me out in this statement and that is "You get just what you pay for. Nothing more."

You are invited to come down to the factory and see just what you are getting. Seeing is believing. You have to listen to a fine set speech on any other goods. Come and see with your own eyes my fertilizers and how they are made.

I have sixty dealers all selling Fertilizer in about thirty counties. All are increasing their business because of good results, fine mechanical condition and good bags. You owe it to yourself to come down and see the Fertilizer that is made in Rushville — for Rush County folks.

MANY CITIES BATTLE FOR CONVENTION CITY

Selection Will be Made at Annual Convention of American Legion at St. Paul, Sept. 15-19

OMAHA, NEB., FIGHT FOR IT

(By United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 2—With five contenders already in the field and the possibility that others will enter the race, the selection of a convention city for the 1925 convention of the American Legion promises to develop into a lively battle, it was indicated today at Legion national headquarters.

The selection will be made at the annual convention at St. Paul, Minn., from Sept. 15 to 19.

Omaha, Neb., has already raised $50,000 to entertain the convention and Legionnaires from that city will carry a certified check for that amount as an argument before the St. Paul gathering.

San Francisco, which entertained the Legion in 1923, extends a second invitation and offers its $2,000,000 Expedition auditorium for the free use of the convales.

Los Angeles and Louisville will have the hearty support of the delegates from their respective state departments. Newark, N. J., is another contender.

Philadelphia is seeking the convention for 1926 as a feature of the celebration of the sesqui-centennial of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

any time to the business of advertising Rush county.

The display inspired many questions from people attending the state fair the first day, when a very small percent of them were from the country, and it is believed that as the fair progresses, interest will increase and it will be necessary to have two men at the booth all of the time to satisfy the curiosity of people attending the fair.

With someone present at the exhibit, the educational value is increased many times and will figure in the award. Only one other exhibit in this class was attended by anyone the opening day.

The judging was supposed to begin at nine o'clock Monday morning, but it is not expected that the decision of the judges will be announced before the latter part of the week, if before Friday.

The present plans are to set up the exhibit in Rushville, after it is brought home from the fair, so that everyone will have an opportunity to see it.

Two men who saw the display Monday said that they planned to visit Rush county soon with the idea of buying some farming land here.

Jesus said:—As ye would that to do right by thee, and then it will be natural for us to do right

by our brothers.

The Herrin Riots

Violence, unless it is properly suppressed and the perpetrators properly punished, leads to more violence.
More violence leads to anarchy and anarchy breeds revolutions. In turn, revolutions destroy governments and paralyze industry.There is no occasion for revolution in this country and there is no excuse for violence.
Apparently there are elements
in the city of Herrin, Ill., who rioting recently took place, causing the loss of several lives that should be suppressed by law without fear or favor.The fact that this is not the first outbreak in that community makes it plain that the disturbing element should be rooted out and made to suffer the consequences of the law, which is supposed to protect the public from such outrages.That the disturbance happened to be caused this time by Klan and anti-Klan adherents does not figure materially in consideration of the situation as it exists there.Before, when many lives were sacrificed on the altar of riot, it was a quarrel between union and non-union forces.The most recent rioting is simply a manifestation of the unhealthy condition that exists there.Until the sore on the body politic is thoroughly healed, it will break out again at the first excuse, and it may not be over the question of the union or the Ku Klux Klan.No set of men, regardless of what organization they represent, is greater than our country and its laws.
Those laws were made to be obeyed
by all people and no one is immune from their application.

No public official can expect to remain in office long without the confidence of the people, and that confidence endures only through a fair and impartial enforcement of the law.No individual or organization can expect to retain the confidence and sympathy of the people unless there is a wholesome respect for all of the laws under which all of the people are required to live.If the organizations involved are powerless to prevent acts of lawlessness, it is clearly the duty of the constituted authorities to put an end to it without further ado.It requires years of care and training to produce an adult life and much toil and expense to create valuable property. Neither should be destroyed at the whim of irresponsible elements in society.Let the law be enforced against both parties to the dispute. True justice knows neither friend nor foe.

Mid-Western Crops

One-fourth of the wealth of the whole United States is situated in five mid-western states—Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan and Wisconsin.Middle-west crops are above the average. Prices are still high. The world grain crop is reported to be short.Here is a combination of circumstances that can mean nothing but prosperity.The wealth of the middle-west is largely confined to products of the soil. The weather started the growing season poorly, but made amends later and the soil has produced lavishly.The American farmer should be looking into the future with optimism.
And he should be joined by all other business men, because just as the depression in agriculture has made itself felt in every line, so will the improvement be reflected in every field of business enterprise.Here in Rush county, we have every reason to be thankful. The growing season has been much more favorable than anyone anticipated. The warm weather of the past several days has hurried the corn crop along and increased the prospects daily for an abundant yield.Wheat sold good, corn promises to bring a larger return than was expected and the hog market is holding up around ten dollars. What more could we ask?

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER

BY HARRY B. HUNT

NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—Evidence is accumulating that the storm-center of the Republican campaign will be Charles G.
Dawes, G. O. P. vice presidential nominee.Dawes is destined to be painted as a political Jekyll-Hyde, a dual personality, alternately a hard-as-nails capitalist and disciplinarian and a pensive, dreaming sentimental.Democrats already have been able to capitalize the "hard-boiled" Dawes, he of "Hell-and-Marie" fame and of strong expletives.
Also, they claim to have found a definite reaction against Dawes' over-present pipe, citing the instance at Portland, Maine, where lithographs of Dawes' pipe in mouth were withdrawn following protests by local W. C. T. U. leaders.As a result of this line of attack on their vice presidential candidate, Republican publicity is engaged in presenting the other Dawes, the one which is less spectacular and vociferous, but which they claim is the Dawes that would be in the ascendant in high office.This Dawes is a cultured, aesthetic gentleman, a patron of the arts, himself a musician and composer, a humanitarian who establishes refuge homes where hungry, jobless men can find shelter and warmth.To back up this picture of Dawes, his "Melody in A Major," perhaps his most tuneful composition, has been produced on phonograph records and is slated for extensive distribution.G. O. P. headquarters cites that a Chicago violinist, touring Europe, has included the Dawes composition in his repertoire and ismaking it the hit of his concert.
So impressed was President Masaryk of Czechoslovakia with the Dawes composition that the violinist felt justified in sending a telegram telling about it."Gen. Dawes' composition is the logical successor to 'Humoresque,'" Masaryk is said to have said.
"America has produced in him a man whose vision is as large as your country."Naturally, a verdict like that just couldn't be suppressed by the Republican party publicists.While Republicans are emphasizing more and more the Dawes of culture, the musician and composer and philanthropist, the Democrats continue hammering away on Dawes as a "hard-boiled egg" who points his periodic with profanity, chews up pipe stems, slams the desk when he talks and raises "Hell-and-Marie" generally.It is from these two widely divergent pictures that the public at large must make up its estimate of Coolidge's running mate. Republicans are hopeful, however, that even the Democratic likeness will be helpful in lining up the votes of red-blooded, vigorous voters, while the dilettante Dawes, the musician and dreamer, are counted on to win for him the ballots of the less strenuously emphatic.Possibly never before did the second-place men on the presidential ticket get by comparison, as great a part of the campaign publicity as they are getting this year.Just as Dawes is made the target of the Coolidge opposition, so Bryan gets more bricks than the Republicans than Dawes, and Wheeler draws the fire of both old parties from his Independent chief La Follette.FIFTEEN YEARS

Great Screen Play

Fred Nible has outdone all of his previous efforts in "Strangers of the Night", the screen version of Walter Hackett's stage success, "Captain Applejack" which opened at the Princess Theatre last night. The man who directed "The Three Musketeers",
"The Famous Mrs. Fair" and "Blood and Sand", has again turned out a great screen play. Working on the brilliant story of the timid British who becomes a pirate and roams the Spanish Main, he has embellished it with beautiful photography, magnificent settings and a superb cast. The picture is presented by Louis B.
Mayer, through Metro.Spectators were thrilled by intense drama and swept into gales of laughter, as Matt Moore, in the role of "Captain Applejack", fought through the mystery of the treasure hidden in his ancestral castle in Cornwall, and swaggered and swore aboard his pirate craft. Euid Bennett's blonde loveliness contrasted with Barbara La Marr's dark seductiveness as these two brilliant actresses portrayed the intrigue and romantic adventure of the denure English miss and the beautiful Russian spy Robert McKin was at his best as the leader of the pirate mutiny, and others in the cast who stood out distinctively were Emily Fitzroy, Otto Hoffman, Thomas Ricketts and Mathilde Brundage.Bees Boredyth was responsible for writing the excellent scenario and the memorable photography is credited to Alvin Wyckoff, who left the De Milles to do this picture. Robert Ellis was the artist who designed the beautiful sets.

"Flapper Wives," Castle

Little Stanley Goethals, who has the appealing role of Jimmy, the blind boy in "Flapper Wives", the Selznick picturization of June Martin's play at the Castle Theatre, was practically forced to become an actor.Stanley's parents owned a restaurant in Culver City, where two or three of the biggest studios in the world are located. Every day the stars and directors came over for lunch and it was not long before Stanley knew them well enough to call them by their first names. One of his best friends was Charles Ray, and it Ray who first noticed the child as a screen possibility. He lost no time in urging Mrs. Goethals to let Stanley work in pictures, but she refused because she thought him far too young. He was only three at the time, Charles Ray, however, told a few of his friends and it was not long before Mrs. Goethals was besieged with offers for Stanley.
Finally her objections were overcome and she took him to the studio where his first role was a part with Priscilla Dean in Outside The Law.

Buck Jones At Mystic

Buck Jones and Ben Hendricks, cast as the "heavy" in "Against All Odds," the newest and best Buck Jones show which comes to the Mystic theatre today. Both are of about equal athletic build, both pride themselves on their mastery of the fistie art, and they're cronies.But they didn't let friendship interfere with realism in going to it with bare fists when the big fight scene at the Fox West Coast Studios, was "shot" and there was no fake about the "sack-knest" they put up. Director Mortimer called "cut," meaning he had enough fight stuff for the picture. The camera men stopped grinding, but neither heeded the imaginary gong, treating the rest of the company to as pretty a boxing exhibition as they could have seen in the professional squared ring.No decision was given, when the scrap stopped, and both continued cronies, but each has partisan fight fans who claim the title for their particular man.

JAMES FOSTER IS ILL

James Foster is seriously ill at his home in North Main street.The Significance of "Cracking"THE Cracking process was responsible for 1,850,- 000,000 gallons, or about 21% of all the gasoline produced in 1923.A large portion of this 21% was produced by the Burton Process, developed in the laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).While the production of crude oil during the past ten years has trebled, the demand for gasoline has far outstripped the increased production. "The real factor in holding down the price of gasoline," says the Oil and Gas Journal, "has been the refiners who produced 6 times as much gasoline, from 3 times as much crude."In accomplishing this result, the biggest single factor has been the use of cracking plants—and in the future, cracking will be an increasingly important factor as the most direct and immediate means of holding down the price of gasoline."Since so much of the gasoline produced by cracking in the United States, is cracked by the Burton Process, it is obvious that the service rendered by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is great.Until 1913, when the first patent for the Burton Process was granted, "cracking was a lost art; an idea that had never been worked out from a chemical standpoint—that had never been developed from an apparatus standpoint—that had never been utilized from an industrial standpoint."Of the cracked gasoline in the United States produced by other processes than the Burton, it is worth noting that none of these cracking processes had developed to the point of producing cracked gasoline in appreciable quantities before 1920, or even 1922.The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has always led the oil industry in progressive development—in economy of operation—in conservation of oil—and in continually lowered cost of refining.The result of these aggressive and constructive services is the essentially low price which motorists pay for gasoline.The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is a real conservatismist. It originated those processes which get more gasoline from less oil and hence keep consumers supplied at lower cost.Every operation of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is based upon a deep regard for public welfare—upon the desire to render maximum service to the community. The Burton Cracking Process is but one of many inventions, originating with this Company, to conserve our natural resources—to render a greater service to the thirty million people of the ten Middle Western States.

Two runs scored in the ninth inning gave the Senators a 4-3 victory over the Athletics in the second game. The A's lost the first game 5-3, scoring their three runs in the ninth.

Singles by Moore and Cuyler in the tenth inning gave the Pirates a five to four victory in the first game and they came back and won the second game 4 to 3 on Moore's homer.

Suzanne Won't Play Helen Wills

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Sept. 2.—Before the brilliant Miss Helen Wills, the 18-year-old American tennis champion, sailed to play at Wimbledon and Paris, the writer expressed the opinion that she had it in her game to beat Miss Suzanne Lenglen, the champion of the world's championship.

After seeing the game of the young California girl in crashing through the recent American championships to another victory, after seeing her win the Olympic championship at Paris and after watching Miss Lenglen in action before she ran out of the Wimbledon tournament, this opinion has become a conviction.

Miss Wills, right now can beat Miss Lenglen, but it is doubtful if she ever will beat the French girl. Suzanne will not play her. Miss Lenglen has a title or what is left of it, that means everything to her and you bet that she is not going to take a chance on it. She was forced to come to the United States, once because she couldn't get out of it. She was asked to help raise funds for devastated France and she had to accept.

France is not devastated now, and there is no other argument that could be brought up to force the temperamental French girl to take any kind of a chance.

The young American champion would not have beaten Miss Lenglen at Wimbledon, but she most certainly would have taken her in the Paris Olympic matches. Lenglen isn't the player she was in 1920 and 1921. She was great then, and she had almost a clear field. There was no player of the type and ability of Helen Wills to dispute her right to the world's title. Miss Lenglen cannot hope to improve her game now, and Miss Wills is getting better every time she goes out.

Exercising the good American right of guessing, we would hazard the opinion that Miss Mary K. Browne, on the game she played against Miss Wills in the semi-final round of the recent women's championship, could have beaten Miss Lenglen. Many critics said also that Helen Wills was the only player in the world that could have beaten Miss Browne the way she played that afternoon.

The young California girl won principally because she possessed a most valiant fighting heart. She was being outpaced and outfoxed. She had been forced to the defense, and victory depended entirely upon a rally that would give her command of the play again. She stuck bravely to her game with the finest demonstration of courage.

RIDES EPINARD

The honor of piloting Epinard in the French horse's match races in this country went to Jockey Everett Haynes, one of the stars of the European turf. Haynes is an American who has been doing most of his riding abroad.

ago. She fought desperately and when the break came she leaped at her opponent like a man in the prize ring.

That stout heart, that indomitable fighting spirit and a great game, with it were what caused the opinion to be expressed that Miss Wills can beat Miss Lenglen now or any other time. The American girl would have to fight hard at Wimbledon, but she should be given a chance to play in Paris where the weather and the conditions of play would not be a handicap to either one of them.

Ever since Miss Wills came east with pig-tails hanging down her back, the experts predicted a future for her and, naturally, a future in women's tennis meant a development to the Lenglen class. The California girl has developed to that class now. Some think she has passed it.

SUGGESTIONS FOR SAFETY ARE MADE

Public Service Commission Making Plans for Safety Conference to be Held October 14-15

SUGGESTS MANY RIGID LAWS

One Man Replies to Request That All
Motorists Stop at Every Railroad
Crossing

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 2.—A law requiring all motorists to stop before driving over railroad grade crossings was suggested in a letter to Frank Singleton, member of the public service commission from Henry Shearer, general manager of the Michigan Central railroad, as a means of reducing crossing accidents.

Singleton is conducting the preparation being made by the commission for a safety conference called by Governor Branch for October 14 and 15. The letter is one of sixty-three replies which Singleton has received from utilities, clubs, and public spirited organizations to his invitation for them to send representatives to the conference and to offer suggestions as to the best means of combating the growing problem presented by crossing accidents.

A law should be enacted by the state legislature, the letter from Shearer said, to "require all automobiles to stop before crossing railroad tracks at grade. If this is deemed too drastic then regulation should be made providing that all passenger carrying trucks and all automobiles, trucks or otherwise operating commercially, be required to stop before going over any railroad crossing. The latter suggestion has been under discussion for years, and has not been given consideration deserved."

Shearer also suggested that the grade separation laws be amended to place all matters of grade separation in the hands of the public service commission, both in the country and in villages and cities, and also make a fair arrangement of division of cost. The railroads, he said, should not assume more than fifty percent of the cost of grade separation.

Singleton today sent letters to ten leading state church organizations asking them to observe September 14 as "Safety Sunday" and to have their ministers preach on safety from their pulpits on that day. He also sent letters inviting the public service commissions from Illinois, Michigan, Kentucky, and Ohio to send representatives to the safety conference and to furnish any information as to experience they might have had in public safety work.

Health Much Better After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Detroit, Michigan.—"Your little book left at my door was my best doctor. I read it, then said to my husband, 'I'll take no more and get me some Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.' I want to take it. The first month I took three bottles of Vegetable Compound and one of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood-Medicine, and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. If you only knew how much better I feel! Now when my friends say they are sick, I tell them to take Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines. I let the little book and your medicines be the best of thanks."—Mrs. HAMERLIN, 2765 25th Street, Detroit, Michigan.

Everybody worth loving at all loves children. You'd horsewhip the man who mistreated one. Yet has it ever occurred to you parents that through neglect of their eyes you may be subjecting YOUR children to the most cruel abuse conceivable?

Five million school children in this country — a fourth of all the children in all the schools — are not equipped for the work. And what they lack is the most vital weapon of all — GOOD EYESIGHT.

There is a duty here and that duty is plainly the parents. Your child's chance in life may depend upon your taking action now in this matter of his eyesight.

We guarantee the most careful examination, one moreover that will fascinate the child. Get the facts about YOUR children's eyes before-school starts.

Semi-Dress Coat

WHITE fox fur and black duvetyn make this coat, which is most desirable for afternoon and semi-dress occasions. The other decoration of note is the diamond shaped bits of material which are cut away to reveal bits of embroidery, in black silk. This occurs considerably below the waistline and gives the long-waisted effect that is so popular.

Gum Chewing Aids the Teeth

You have the authority of doctors and dentists for this statement. Your own experience will prove it, if you will use WRIGLEY'S after every meal.

The following quotations from a recent work on teeth and health are worth remembering:

"Dentists have found that the exercise of gum chewing brings about a better nutrition of the teeth . . ."

"The cleansing action of the gum between the teeth helps to keep them free from the particles which lodge in the crevices and cause decay."

The busy man—or woman either—rarely has time to clean the teeth after eating. Yet they should be cleaned, and will do it. Also it will aid digestion and furnish welcome refreshment to mouth and throat.

—That's the Circus-Man's War-Cry in Traffic Troubles

EMERGENCY. It's a part of the show driver's very life. Stalking at his shoulder through every hour.

Maybe it comes at his first hitch at the cars in early dawn, maybe right at the lot before parade—just a quick bunt out of sand or rut in all the light of morning sunshine.

But again it's a belated load-up at howling midnight. Strange, dim streets, wind and drizzle making guttering traitors of the flares set to mark the unfamiliar way.

Hub-down in an unseen hole, the fast heavy stake wagon sinks deep and sullen against the futile eight horse pull.

Hark!

"B-r-i-n-g u-p t-h-e b-u-l-l-s!"

This cry in the dark hurtles through the murk to the unseen load ahead.

Caught up and tossed from driver to driver in the straggling line the strange S. O. S. is relayed on and on to waiting ears.

Suddenly, silently, almost like loosened fragments of darkness itself, there loom beside the welcoming wagon huge hulks of embodied power.

The "bulls" have come—the elephant reserves!

At commands scarcely more than whispered, mighty trunks wind about the buried axle. Massive heads lean forward. The whip cracks ahead. A creak—a strain and the gripping pit slips backward into forgotten history.

It's all in the night's work. The circus is ready—self-contained—adequate with its own resources to meet and conquer its own emergencies.

is the motor fuel of reserve strength—never failing. Within its own substance, it has the crowding, irresistible self-contained force of true explosiveness.

It is ready with confident power whenever load or grade or barrier drag at the wheels and the bull cry telegraphs its way along the driving line for reserve measures from motor and throttle. It does not waver. Its clean body, free from kerosenish taint and unbroken by gaps in its firing chain meets its emergency and passes it into unnoticed history.

Its use is the consummation of pleasantest driving, efficient economy and final motor conservation.

Your suit gets as soiled as your linen. That's why so many men unconsciously have that down-at-the-heel look.
